WORLDWIDE DISASTER RELIEF

VOLUNTEERS ARE NATAN'S SUPERPOWER

Dikla Agur, MD, and her daughter Hadar, in NATAN's clinic at the Dead Sea, October 2023.

Immediately following the Oct. 7th attack, NATAN established medical and dental clinics in several locations to aid evacuees and survivors. NATAN volunteers operated these clinics until the end of 2023, when operations were

Dr. Dikla Agur volunteered in NATAN's Dead Sea clinic days after October 7; her teenage daughter Hadar served as her secretary.

"We opened the clinic in the morning and people began to flow to the clinic: a mother who gave birth on October 5, parents with young children, elderly people who came without their medication, healthy people who faced minor medical problems and people with chronic diseases, confused and clueless about their medications. All share a common denominator: they are shocked, anxious, exhausted. They think about home...

Most visits end without a prescription but with a strong, prolonged human hug. They want comfort, they want witnesses to their experience. They want hope."
